Communication Essentials for Financial Planners John E. Grable 2017-01-30

Exploring the Human Element of Financial Planning Communication Essentials for Financial Planners tackles the counseling side of practice to help financial planners build more productive client relationships. CFP Board's third book and first in the Financial Planning Series, Communication Essentials will help you learn how to relate to clients on a more fundamental level, and go beyond "hearing" their words to really listen and ultimately respond to what they're saying. Expert coverage of body language, active listening, linguistic signals, and more, all based upon academic theory. There is also an accompanied set of videos that showcase both good and bad communication and counseling within a financial planning context. By merging written and experiential learning supplemented by practice assignments, this book provides an ideal resource for any client-facing financial professional as well as any student on their pathway to CFP® certification. Counseling is a central part of a financial planner's practice, and attention to interpersonal communication goes a long way toward progressing in the field; this guide provides practical instruction on the proven techniques that make a good financial planner great. Build client relationships based on honesty and trust. Learn to read body language and the words not spoken. Master the art of active listening to help your clients feel heard. Tailor your communications to suit the individual client's needs. The modern financial planning practice is more than just mathematics and statistical analysis—at its heart, it is based on trust, communication, and commitment. While interpersonal skills have always been a critical ingredient for success, only recently has this aspect been given the weight it deserves with its incorporation into the certification process. Communication Essentials for Financial Planners provides gold-standard guidance for certification and beyond.

Guffey 1996 Business Communication: Process and Product introduces a unique teaching/learning package that solves a major problem for instructors and students today. It provides the atmosphere of an exciting real-life business environment for business communication -- without sacrificing sound pedagogy. This means that students experience the enrichment of real people and real business situations while at the same time learning a hands-on process that they can carry with them to apply long after they leave the classroom...Business Communication: Process and Product takes students inside some of the country's best-run and most respected organizations, such as Liz Claiborne, Ben & Jerry's, American more than real business settings in which to frame their learning. They need a process that outlines specific steps to follow in solving future communication problems, a tangible strategy they can apply in their careers. In addition to a process, we provide ample products of that process.
